

20 SALES METHODOLOGIES FOR B2B SELLING

SalesDaily.co
NEWSLETTER

SPIN Selling

A question-based method for surfacing real buyer pain.

When to use it:

When you need to guide discovery through logic and insight.

Best for: SaaS, agencies, solution-led sellers

SNAP Selling

A speed-based approach built for today's distracted buyers.

When to use it:

When buyers are overwhelmed and decisions stall from friction.

Best for: Inside sales or high-velocity SDR/AE teams

GAP Selling

Focuses on the gap between current state and desired outcome.

When to use it:

When you're selling ROI, outcomes, or transformation.

Best for: SaaS, agencies, solution-led sellers

SPICED Framework

Uncovers urgency and qualification through 6 buyer-focused lenses.

When to use it:

During discovery to surface impact and timing early.

Best for: SaaS, outbound, or multi-threaded deals

MEDDIC

A qualification system for complex sales with many stakeholders.

When to use it:

When deal risk is high and misalignment kills forecasts.

Best for: Enterprise AEs and deal desk teams

MEDDPICC

Adds Paper Process and Competition to MEDDIC for deeper control.

When to use it:

When legal, security, or red tape blocks velocity.

Best for: Late-stage pipeline and large-deal operators

CHAMP

Qualifies based on challenge and authority before budget.

When to use it:

When budget is unclear but urgency can be created.

Best for: SDRs, outbound AEs, and early-stage discovery

NEAT Selling

Framework focusing on business pain and economic value.

When to use it:

When you need to tie discovery directly to impact.

Best for: SaaS reps handling large-volume outreach

Sandler Selling System

Uses psychology and control techniques to lead the process.

When to use it:

When buyers hold power and pressure needs to be reversed.

Best for: High-ticket closers, services, and complex solution sales

Challenger Sale

Reframes buyer thinking with tailored insight and control.

When to use it:

When breaking status quo and positioning disruptive ideas.

Best for: Enterprise teams, competitive markets

Insight Selling

Leads buyers with tailored insight to help define their needs.

When to use it:

When buyers are unsure what to prioritize or how to decide.

Best for: Advisory-style sales, consultants, B2B SaaS

Command of the Sale

A process-control system to drive deal momentum consistently.

When to use it:

When too many deals stall or go dark after demo.

Best for: Sales teams that need discipline and follow-through

Strategic Selling

Maps influence, politics, and power in multi-threaded deals.

When to use it:

When more than 4 stakeholders are involved in the decision.

Best for: Enterprise sellers, key account managers

Target Account Selling

Coordinates cross-functional efforts toward named high-value accounts.

When to use it:

When deals require personalization, orchestration, and patience.

Best for: ABM teams, enterprise AEs, field sales

Winning by Design

Scalable system focused on recurring revenue and data-driven sales.

When to use it:

When building repeatable, scientific sales workflows.

Best for: SDRs, outbound AEs, and early-stage discovery

Buyer Facilitator Framework

Helps the buyer buy by reducing internal friction and confusion.

When to use it:

When deals stall due to buyer-side complexity or fear.

Best for: Customer-centric AEs, consultants, B2B advisory sales

Sales Acceleration Formula

A metrics-driven system built around scalable sales hiring and process.

When to use it:

When building a team from zero or scaling inside sales.

Best for: Founders, VPs of Sales, RevOps

Buyer-Centric Selling

Builds trust by aligning the sales process to buyer psychology.

When to use it:

When consultative value matters more than pitch volume.

Best for: Long-cycle sales, renewals, and retention-led orgs

The Science of Selling

Uses behavioral science to influence how buyers decide.

When to use it:

When logic alone isn't enough and emotional trust matters.

Best for: Reps selling abstract, risky, or unfamiliar solutions

Value Selling Framework

Links solution capabilities to measurable business outcomes.

When to use it:

When defending price or selling premium positioning.

Best for: Competitive SaaS, MarTech, FinTech, and B2B tech vendors

Subscribe to SalesDaily.co for more sales frameworks